THE PRESIDENTIAL RACE WITH CLAIMS OF MANY DELEGATESWISCONSIN SENATOR BACKED BY ULTRA PROGRESSIVES TO TRY FOR REPUBLICAN
NOMINATION IN 1912.

HIS BANNER WAS RAISED

By His Friends in Washington This Morning—Many States Reported
As Certain to Send Delegates
Delegates for Him.
(See United Press.)

Washington, June 17.—Senator Robert M. La Follette is a candidate for the republican nomination for president. This statement was made today with his knowledge and consent.

Claim Assurances.

Claiming they are already assured of one-third of the delegates in the republican convention, La Follette's friends say he is in the field prepared to do battle to the end with the "entrenched army" of President Taft.

Formal Statement.

La Follette will defer handing a formal statement until the campaign is more fully developed.

Bitter Campaign.

The campaign will be fought in the light of La Follette's achievements in Wisconsin and his record of seven years in the senate.

One Third.

La Follette now estimate that their candidate will enter the convention with the solid delegation from Wisconsin and sufficient supporters from other states to give him one-third of the delegates.

States Certain.

They put California, Oregon, Washington and Kansas on the La Follette column.

British Soldiers at Bunker Hill,
Boston, Mass., June 17.—The steady tread of British troops was heard in the vicinity of Bunker Hill today as on that memorable day 136 years ago, when the first important conflict of the American Revolution took place. Today, however, the Americans were not fortified on the crest of the hill ready to fire when you see the whites of their eyes." The Americans were on hand, this time in superior numbers, and they gave the British soldiers a warm reception, for the latter were the St. John Fusiliers, of St. John, N. B., who had come down on a fraternal visit to help in the celebration of Massachusetts' Fourth of July. The celebration centered in Charlestown, where the British troops marched in parade with the Massachusetts militia and sailors and marines from the American warships at the navy yard.Eight Indictments

REAL ESTATE VALUES ON HEALTHY INCLINE

Enhancing of Real Estate Values in Edgerton Show Good, Healthy and Steady Growth.

Edgerton, June 17.—Real estate in this city for the past few days has been brisk and, to the credit of Edgerton, it can be said that property of all kinds is increasing in value and price. Of course it is not inferred that there is a boom on, but it means merely a good, steady, healthy growth.

Changes in real estate for the past few days are as follow: Dr. W. McNamee's residence in the third ward to Albert Bartz for $2,000; Albert Bartz' residence near the driving park to Otto Schmitz for $1,000; Wilson Brown to T. A. Perry, old creamery lots on Randolph street, $600; T. A. Perry to Frank Burdick and W. E. Davis, lots 22 and 23 at $100 each. The Indian Ford creamery lot owned by Fred Madlene also has been sold to the Janesville Electric Light company.

Personal.—Mrs. S. W. Hatch went to Janesville this morning to spend the day.

BIGGEST AVIATION MEET OPENS AT PARIS SUNDAY

Man-Dirde Will Fly Over France, Belgium, Holland and England for Prizes of $100,000.

Paris, June 17.—The foremost navigators of the air are entered in the race under the auspices of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, which will start tomorrow morning for prizes that will exceed $100,000 and which will probably be the greatest event in the history of aviation.

France, Belgium, Holland and England, by way of Paris, Utrecht, London and back to Paris again, is the herculean task laid out for the flyers to accomplish. While traversing the four countries, the airmen, with pass over Rhine, Liege, Hanover, Hamburg, Bremen, Wesel, Utrecht, Lille, Calais, Brooklands, Brighton, Rouen and a host of smaller towns.

In addition to the grand prize for the finishing of the race in the whole, more than half the cities on the route have offered cash awards to the aviator who makes the best time to that place from the preceding city. Altogether, it is calculated that nearly $60,000 will go to the flyers from these special prizes alone. The Federation Aeronautique Internationale will declare the winner of the race the champion aviator of the world.

There is one respect in which the race that starts tomorrow will differ from any aerial event ever held. The contestants, instead of being limited in number of landings, are required to touch earth at twenty different points along the rectangular course.

This, it is believed, will go long way toward preventing disastrous accidents, as, being compelled to alight, the aviator will have an opportunity to overhaul his craft and repair anything that may have gone wrong with the machinery. Naturally, the most perilous part of the journey will be the crossing of the English Channel. This feat will have to be accomplished twice during the course of the race, on the way from Utrecht to London and on the home stretch, from London to Paris, where the finish will be.

Closes a Bank.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 17.—The state banking department took charge of the Citizens' bank of Macon, Mo., which has a capital of $40,000.

SUFFRAGETTES IN BIG PARADE

"Pageant of Protest" in London Made Up of 40,000 Persons.

London, June 17.—The great "pageant of protest" by the suffragettes today was the biggest parade of women ever organized in the world's history. It was five miles long and more than 40,000 persons were in line. Every suffrage society in England and many from other countries were represented, as was every profession and occupation which women have entered.

Women who have won distinction in their own lines were present in large numbers, among them Mrs. Hertha Ayrton, member of the Institute of Electrical Engineers, and Miss Ethel Smyth, Mus. Doc., the English composer who occupies an unique position among musicians. Miss Elizabeth Robins, author of "The Convert" and "The Magnetic North," led a large contingent of women writers. The best known and most popular actresses headed the division that represented the stage, and in the ranks were found many women playwrights. The women who have won university honors marched wearing their academic robes.

BERRY CROP AT LAKE MILLS IS A FAILURE

George J. Kellogg of Lake Mills, Wrote Letter Regarding Strawberries and Recent Cattle Sale.

In writing to the Gazette, George J. Kellogg of Lake Mills, tells of the strawberry crop in that locality. He writes: "Strawberries at Lake Mills are a comparative failure. Many bogs are not worth picking, owing to the extreme heat and drought. The strawberries have been so light that we seem to have done little good." He also tells of some experiments which he is carrying on. He says: "I am training some overbearers to give their whole strength and productiveness to fruit in Sept. and Oct. I have added five new kinds of overbearers to my bog and calculate to push this part of the strawberry business."

Regarding the third consignment sale of Holstein-Friesian cattle he sends the following record of the sales which go to show the value placed on this breed of stock. One bull brought $1,000, one cow brought $510. Four heads brought from $100 to $160, seven, $200 to $300, six, $250 to $275, twenty-three, $200 to $245, seventy-one, $100 to $200.

REPORTS ON OLD INQUIRY

General Denby Sends Letter to Knox Explaining Discrepancy in Hay Portrait Matter in 1906—Case Is Taken Seriously.

Washington, June 17.—The house committee on expenditures in the state department were told by Thomas Morrison, a clerk in that department, that he was instructed to keep quiet about the finding of the missing voucher in the hay portrait case, now under investigation.

This instruction, he said, was given him by Wilbur J. Carr, chief of the controller bureau.

The disclosure was made when Chairman Humble asked him if he had made any further attempt since his examination a few days ago to discover how the long-missing voucher came to be on the floor of his office.

Says Carr Told Him.

"I was instructed not to say much about it," Mr. Morrison testified.

"Who instructed you not to say much about it?"

"I think it was Mr. Carr."

"Well, you must know whom you talked to about it."

"Yes, Mr. Carr told me not to discuss the matter. He said it was not advisable to say much about it, as it would be investigated."

Think Case Serious.

The serious view taken of the matter by state department officials was reflected in a copy of a letter and telegram from Charles Denby, consul general at Vienna, Austria, former chief clerk of the state department under Secretary Root when the first investigation into the mystery of the $2,450 voucher for an $800 portrait was made.

Answering Mr. Denby's first telegram for an explanation of the port payment, Mr. Denby said: "No written report was made. Careful preliminary investigation failed to convince the department that criminal charges could be sustained." Reporting by mail Mr. Denby explained that the voucher discrepancy was discovered in 1906, when the department negotiated for a portrait of Secretary Hay, and that prior to the Root regime it was customary to include in one voucher smaller sum paid for a number of expenses out of the appropriation allotted to the department to be expended at the secretary's discretion.

CARNEGIE IN IRE AT GATES

Declares Coronation a Farce and Silly Waste of Money.

Edinburgh, June 17.—Andrew Carnegie, in an interview at Skibo Castle, declared his intention of appearing before the congressional committee investigating the steel trust and telling the real story of his own connection with the formation of the United States Steel corporation and added:

"When I have finished the public may then judge for themselves whether I or this man Gates has told the truth. This man Gates is a broken-down gambler. I have nothing to do with him."

Regarding the statement that he sold out to the steel trust, he said:

"I sold out to Mr. Morgan simply because I wanted to get out of business. I never owned a share of steel trust stock."

Turning to the subject of the coronation, the iron master said: "The coronation is all a gigantic farce, a sinful waste of money. I don't know if there will ever be another coronation, but I don't believe England will ever stand for another foolish display such as this."

ROCKFORD RAMBLERS MEET LOCAL TEAM

Crack Baseball Team of Forest City Will Play Here At the Fair Grounds Tomorrow Afternoon.

Lovers of baseball can enjoy the sport the kids indulge in on the vacant lots and take greater enjoyment in the national pastime between more expert players, if the game is close enough to be exciting. That particular variety of sport is what the fans are prohibited by Manager Green in tomorrow's contest on the diamond at the Fair Grounds between the Janesville team and the Ramblers of Rockford. The Ramblers have a reputation for playing the game fast and are one of the best amateur organizations in Northern Illinois. The Madison City team which lost to Janesville here last Sunday by a 6 to 3 score, was humbled by the Ramblers 5 to 3. Rockford's batteries will be Thurewell and Erickson. The lineup for Janesville: Smith or Peterson, p; Crotan, c; Green, 1b; Smith or Peterson, 2b; Marks, 3b; Miller, ss; Kinney, rf; Hall, cf; Williams, cf.

CUBS TO PLAY AT YOST'S TOMORROW

Local Team Will Be Hooked Up With the Balfit, W. O. W. At Half-Way Park Sunday Afternoon.

Janesville Cubs tomorrow afternoon play the W. O. W. team of Balfit, the game being called at York Park. The Cubs struck their winning gall in last Sunday's match with the Collo Hills of Holst, and it is hoped that they can repeat the performance with the W. O. W. nine tomorrow. They do now, however, expect a walkaway as the Line City aggregation played the Parkers of this city to a close score a short time ago. Burns and Charley are announced as the Holst batteries. The Cubs' lineup: Silverthorn, c; Berger, p; Tomm, 1b; Sullivan, 2b; Porter, 3b; Owen, ss; Eckert, rf; Green, cf; Ritter, cf.

Midgets Beat Bullfrogs. The Fourth Ward Midgets, but small, but the Fourth Ward Bullfrogs are more diminutive, according to the score in a game yesterday afternoon at the Fourth Ward Park, which the midgets won by the score of 18 to 10. Cassidy and Welch were the Midgets' batteries and Williams and Metcalf the Bullfrogs'. Flannery of the veterans nine and Clark of the Creek Songsters were the star players.

RESULTS OF WESTERN GOLF COMPETITION

Local Team Competing Yesterday On Mississippi Links Finished With 103 Down—Individual Scores:

Unofficial returns from the results of the Western Golf Association competition which took place all over the United States yesterday afternoon in which a local team were entered, announced the team at the Cleveland Country Club as the victors, the latter finishing 19 down. Rain interfered in many places with the play but most of the seventy-four clubs entered, completed over their home courses.

On par of 74, the local team finished 103 down, ranking thirty-eighth in the list with the following results for the individuals: E. C. Bannan, 16; J. P. Baker, 15; Burns, Brewster, 9; Albert, Schaller, 10; G. E. King, 16; J. L. Wilcox, 14; F. C. Grant, 13.

Some of the other clubs which are more or less known to members of the local organization finished as follows:

Westward Ho of Chicago, fifth with 43 down; the Rockford club finished in thirteenth place, with 55 down; Blue Mound, Milwaukee, with 87 down, was in thirty-fourth place and with Windsor intervening, the next three places were taken by La Crosse, Ridgemoor and Janesville in the order named. These results may be somewhat changed after the final checking.

COMMERCIAL LEAGUE GAMES CALLED OFF

Today's Contests Between Factory Teams Postponed On Account of Condition of Diamond.

Today's games in the Commercial baseball league, which were to have been played this afternoon, were postponed on account of wet grounds. The showers of yesterday not only souped the diamond but they were puddles of water in several places and the grounds were in no condition for playing. The games, which were to have been played today between the Van Horn Furniture company's nine and the Gazette Printing company nine, will be played later in the season as postponed games. The regular schedule will be played next Saturday.

Woodworkers vs. Printers.

Despite unfavorable conditions and a threatening sky, a game was commenced at four o'clock this afternoon at the Fair Grounds between the Van Horn Furniture company's nine and the Gazette Printing company nine.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT. Some things improve with age, while others weaken and decay. Much depends upon the kingdom occupied, and the allotted time of existence, for while to man is promised the three score years and ten, to all animate creation there is an age limit.

In the realm of plant life, the seeds sprout in the early spring; the flowers and green fields are at their best before mid-summer and then the plants die a natural death, before the blighting frosts of autumn. They have lived their brief life, and filled full the mission planned by an all-wise Creator.

The fruit-bearing trees, matured and cultured with intelligent care, are many of them at the zenith of prosperity before out of their teens and decay comes with old age at the close of three or four decades.

The land promoters of the south have much to say about orange groves in bearing, five years old, but nothing to offer on trees which have stood the test of a quarter century.

The trees of the forest contest for supremacy and crowd out the weaker members, to discover later that fire, and the ruthless hand of man, speedily puts to an end the most promising future.

When the tides come in through the narrow passes, to the bays and inland waters which line the coast, all kinds of deep water fish come in with the rushing water to feed, and so the fishermen in these waters have long since learned to fish on an incoming tide.

It is interesting to watch the stir of life in these quiet waters when the strong current commences to flow inland. Schools of minnows flash in the sunlight close to the beach, and on the edge of the sandbars for protection, where the water is so shallow that their enemies can not follow.

Just outside, a school of mullet watch for their prey, and just beyond the swirl of a shark is noticed, and then the rush of a porpoise, as he makes for the shallows with lightning speed, frequently landing half out of water, in his mad rush for food, and pulling like nothing but a porpoise for freedom and deep water.

The kingdom of animal life which exists out of sight beneath the surface of the water, is a carnivorous kingdom where the law of the survival of the fittest is absolute. The weak contribute to the life of the strong with monotonous regularity and tragedy is of constant occurrence.

Two barges floating at anchor in a southern bay, drifted apart a few inches, and parties fishing from one of them, noticed a great commotion between the two boats. They soon discovered that a rovala, a fish four feet long and weighing twenty-five pounds, in rushing for a small fish had become wedged between the boats and could not escape. When lifted out with a gaff hook, he had in his mouth a fish that weighed a pound.

It is an uncommon thing for shark to follow a fish that has been hooked, and go off with all but the head before the angler can reel in his catch. Thus it is in all the realms of plant and animal life. The weak contribute to the strong, and every downy pup tribute to man, "the monarch of all he surveys."

The dominion of the human race dates back to the dawn of history, and while centuries have come and gone the work of capture and destruction has developed until many of the forces of nature have been exhausted in attempting to meet the demand.

Thus after race of birds have become extinct, and forests have been leveled and destroyed to satisfy the pride or ambition of the human family. Game birds have disappeared, in many states, while birds of plumage are slaughtered ruthlessly.

The chase for game, and the chase for feathers to ornament the hat is pursued with equal fervor and the denizens of this kingdom seldom find opportunity to live out allotted time and die a natural death.

Man is the only being who in any way shapes and controls his own destiny, and equipped with the power of dominion, which he enjoys, there is every reason why he should develop and become better with each succeeding generation.

Much is said, nowadays, about the perils of human life being lengthened and scientists predict that the century mark for the average mortal is within the range of possibilities. He that as it may, it is not reasonable to suppose that the fountain of youth will ever become perpetual, or that living on borrowed time will be a continuous round of pleasure.

Someone said, a time ago, that the man who took up golf at the age of fifty, need never expect to become an expert. This is true of many things besides golf.

The railroads recognize the fact that a man is at his best, physically, before he reaches the age of thirty-five, and this is the age limit placed on new employees in the operating department, where endurance is of vital importance.

In the commercial and industrial world the unwritten law confronts the man who has reached the half century milestone, when seeking new employment, and he soon discovers that his age is against him.

The derricks which line the roadway of life are guide-boards telling of disappointment and failure, but seldom studied to advantage, as the most of us are slow to learn, except through the hard school of experience.

The man who works in the same shop, or behind the same counter for a quarter century, passes the crest of the wave and drifts out with the ebb of the unconsciously, never realizing when he passed the point where he commenced to go down hill.

A boy reaches his majority and is clothed with all the responsibilities of citizenship at the age of twenty-one. The average boy leaves school long before that age is reached and calls himself a man before he becomes a voter, yet but few boys come to themselves before attaining their majority.

The stretch of road ahead for a dozen years determines what life will mean to them for the most of them will establish a home as well as a business or occupation.

They are the years of young manhood, merging into middle life, years of possibilities and opportunities, the most important epoch in any life.

This is the period of physical, mental and moral development—the period when habits are cultivated and thoroughly established, and when a man takes on the luster of every kind.

All avenues are open during these gracious years, but there comes a time, a little later, when some of the gateways are closed because the powers of physical endurance are not equal to the strain.

The part of our being which weakens first is the body, and the mechanism is so finely adjusted that friction is almost imperceptible, yet thousands of people break down and go all to pieces in middle life because too much was demanded of the physical organism.

The mind is active long after the body weakens, because the most of us employ our hands so much more than our brains that the work is not properly distributed.

The organs of the body are constantly flying danger signals to which we pay no heed until the break comes, and then we retro in a spasm of nervous collapse to figure out how it all happened, console by the thought that the exercise of a little thought and common sense might have prevented the catastrophe. The brain is off on a holiday when the candle is lighted at both ends.

Man was equipped for the race of life and no mistake was made in the equipment. If well established in some business or calling, before he reaches the age of thirty-five, he finds that mental and moral forces come to his aid as physical endurance weakens, and destiny is assured.

"Well, the new things were perfectly lovely. And there certainly is nothing wrong in wanting to wear and see the beautiful things, is there?"

"No," I said. "No, but—"

The average man in business, when he has passed the half century mark, is a growing man because his faculties are all employed, but turn him loose to earn a living as a wage-earner, and he would look in vain for work at $10 a week.

The faculty which never grows old is the heart, the fountain of life, and there is no period of existence from the dawn of responsibility down to the edge of time when the heart, at peace with itself and all mankind, does not chant the glad refrain of perpetual youth.

It may bow like the oak before the blasts of winter, but it greets the world with smiling face in the sunshine of the morning, loyal to the life that is, and hopeful of the life to come.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

By A. W. MACY.

THE DELAYED FUNERAL OF JOHN BROWN'S SON.

Old John Brown had two sons killed at Harper's Ferry, Owen and Watson. The body of Owen was buried with others in a trench near the scene of the conflict. That of Watson was secured by some physicians from a medical college at Winchester, twenty miles away.

Three years afterward, in 1862, Winchester was captured by Gen. Banks of the Union army, and Dr. J. J. Johnson, surgeon of the Twenty-seventh Indiana volunteers, was placed in charge of the medical college, which had been turned into a hospital for southern soldiers. Dr. Johnson found the body of Watson Brown, so labeled, which had been anatomically preserved as a fine specimen of the human body. He sent the body to his home in Indiana, and preserved it there for many years. In 1882 word reached the Brown family that Dr. Johnson had Watson's body. The oldest son, John Brown, Jr., who was living at Put-in-Bay, went to Martinsville, Ind., where Dr. Johnson lived, identified the body, and took it away with him. It was buried with impulsive ceremonies by the side of the father, "John Brown of Osawatomie," in the Adirondack mountains. This account is authentic, for the writer of "Curious Bits of History" is the one who "discovered" the body at Martinsville. A full account of the matter will be found in the New York Independent of June 15, 1898.

EASTER OR SERVICE.

I am an optimist. However, I strike a minor note occasionally. Now that Easter Sunday is far enough away let me sound that note.

For several weeks preceding that Sunday I noted the advertising of the milliners and tailors and ready made dealers. If you remember they ran like this:

"Easter millinery," "Garments for Easter Sunday," "Get into the Easter procession."

And so forth. Without deciding to be irrevocable it seemed to me there was kind of "resurrection" and what will you wear for an Easter bonnet" mixture of suggestion in the newspaper announcements.

You see—

The Fourth of July has been turned into a sort of cross between a Paul's Pyrotechnic display and a beer picnic.

The observance of Memorial day consists largely in sporting and speeding events. We have almost ruined Christmas by the preholiday rush and our extravagance in giving.

I add to myself—

Are we spoiling this most significant of all the Christian festivals by making it an annual clothes exhibition?

My wife did not think so.

However, by judicious questioning as we came home from the services I learned from her that one of her friends, a regular church communicant, had stayed away that day because she was afraid she might look a little shabby in the midst of the new young men.

She did not think so.

Leopold Dreysus revealed for the first time the existence of a "fire trust". Jacob Wronski was accused in the confession of being the "solicitor" in the gigantic arson plot. Wronski is being held in the hope that he will throw further light on the conspiracy. He persistently refused to answer any questions.

His Query.

A foreigner, watching a young kitten playing with its mother, asked of his friend: "What you zo eat call ven he iz a little pup?"

Reasonably Safe.

The man who is true to himself is not likely to be injured much by those who would deal falsely with him.

His Gifted Relative.

"Your Uncle Seymour was what they called a 'famous whip,' Johnny," Mrs. Lansing said. "He never was happy as when he was driving his ballyhoo coach all over the country."

Way of Modern Physician.

"The physician," says Brown, "is the man who tells you that you need change and then takes all you have."

A policy covering all of these costs little. See

How Was It In the Old Days?

You remember the old story about the horse shoe nail. How for the lack of a nail the shoe was lost, the horse went lame and the rider was lost, the courier was delayed and the message was lost, the battle lost and the empire lost. All these misfortunes were due to a comparatively unimportant and inexpensive part of the necessary equipment of a rider beginning a journey.

There is a modern parallel you should ponder.

Will Aid The Work

The work of the collectors for the Subscription Department to "The Gazette" can be very greatly assisted if the patrons of the paper will have their payments ready at the time the collector calls. Most of our friends have assisted nicely in this connection and their promptness is appreciated. With several hundred calls to make each month, it is no small task and where it is necessary to make several return calls, the work is greatly increased. The collectors make the rounds of the city on the following dates, or near those dates:

ARE LISTING ROOMS AT HEADQUARTERS

Many Have Already Phoned in Their Names—Many Calls for Postals and Stickers.

Interest in the coming Fourth of July celebration is growing. The list of rooms at the headquarters is increasing every day, many having availed themselves of placing their name and address on file for reference when the demand comes. If you have not done so, telephone No. 24 Wisconsin telephone or 1297 Rock County and give your name and address, number of room and cost. It will not cost you anything and will be available for use by the visitors.

There has been such a demand for round advertising postals that the committee has secured two thousand more and they can be obtained at the headquarters free on application. Twenty-five thousand stickers have also been received and will be distributed on Monday.

Fifteen thousand hand bills will be shipped Monday to the Northwestern stations between Janesville and Milwaukee and Janesville and End Fond du Lac and also between Janesville and Chicago. Two crews of advertising men have already done considerable travelling by auto and will complete the work Monday and Tuesday of next week.

Mr. Riddle is expected Monday to meet with persons who desire to make applications for concessions and will be at the headquarters all day at that time, after he will be there for fixed hours every day. Twenty thousand programs are on the press and will be distributed throughout the country during the coming week.

Lieutenant Colonel Stearns of Monroe has been invited to take charge of the troops to be here the three days and will be assisted by Major John Jonchim of Madison, Major Rossman of Beloit and Major Paliech of Milwaukee. Capt. Hanson, former commander of the local military company will have charge of the arrangements for the fort at the Fair Grounds where the sham battle occurs.

It has also been practically decided to have the Industrial parade on the morning of the fourth and an announcement as to the place of this feature will be made Monday of Tuesday. The automobile parade still remains part of the program for Wednesday evening.

JANESVILLE BOY TO DELIVER ADDRESSES

William H. Spohn As President of Graduating Class at University Will Speak at Class Day Exercises.

William Henry Spohn of this city, son of Alderman and Mrs. James F. Spohn, will be graduated at the commencement exercises commencing on Monday at the University of Wisconsin from the College of Letters and Science at the school. In addition to this, Spohn, as the president of the class, will take part in the class day exercises, delivering the address of welcome Monday morning and the farewell address, on Monday afternoon. At the same time three other Janesville young men, Douglas F. McKay, Perry O. McKinley and Harold G. Yuhu will receive their sheepskins from the College of Letters and Science. All four young men are graduates of the Janesville high school of the class of 1907. Spohn served as the president of the class in his last year in high school.

APPLEBY ISSUES A GENERAL WARNING

Cautions Public to be Careful on Circus Day—Many Crooks May be in the City.

Chief of Police, George M. Appleby, has issued a formal word of warning to all property owners to be careful on Tuesday next, owing to the fact that crooks may be in town, following the circus. He urged property owners to lock their doors and windows when leaving home and promptly report any loss that may occur to the police department. The Barnum and Bailey show has able detectives but crooks often follow the big circus.

The closing dinner will be held at Draper Hall at one o'clock and the party will return to Milwaukee on the afternoon train.

FREDA LEE SENT TO JAIL FOR VAGRANCY

Woman Sentenced for Thirty Days for Camping Out in Stone Quarry.

Camping out in the open is no crime, but there are certain restrictions which the law places on it, which, if not lived up to, constitutes vagrancy. So Freda Lee and Emmett Pearl, who were taken in charge by the local police yesterday, discovered, when they were arraigned in municipal court this morning and sentenced to thirty days each for vagrancy. The judge warned the pair that the next time they appeared in court they would be dealt with more severely.

The woman and Pearl had been living in the open for the past two weeks in the Stout stone quarry on the Atton road southwest of the city. The pair had no shelter and remained out in all the storms which have visited this section during the past fortnight, eking out a meager existence. The woman is said to be of the lowest character. She was sent to jail recently as one of the members of a "leg party," captured by the police on the river bank. She told police authorities her home was formerly in Monroe but since her husband had been sent to prison and her home broken up by taking her children to Sparc, she had tried the downtown path.

Centenary of Noted Playwright,
Paris, June 17.—Several interesting little observances were held in Paris to mark the centenary of Adolphe Philippe d'Emmony, who was one of the most prolific and successful playwrights of the last century. Although a hundred years have elapsed since he first he is still well remembered personally, for he lived to be eighty-eight years old, his death occurring only about ten years ago. D'Emmony was perhaps best known to the American playing public as one of the two authors of "A Celebrated Case," which he produced in collaboration with M. Cormon. He collaborated with M. Denol in writing "Don Cesar de Bazan," and with Jules Verne in "Around the World in Eighty Days."

MISS DECKER WEDDED TO MARVIN PETERSON

Young Couple Married at Home of Bride's Parents on Milton Avenue, Thursday Evening.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Decker, Thursday evening at six o'clock, occurred the wedding of Miss Lillian Decker and Marvin Peterson, Dr. David Beaton officiating.

The ceremony was performed under a canopy with a color scheme of green and white. The bride and groom were preceded by two little flower girls, the Misses Ruth and Miriam Decker, sister and niece of the bride. They carried baskets of pink and white sweet peas. Following these, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Crowley, came the bride and groom. The former was beautifully attired in a handsome gown of crepe de chine over white silk. After the ceremony the friends and relatives of the couple crowded about them to extend their congratulations and good wishes and in the midst of these proceedings a large wedding bell filled with rose leaves was emptied upon them.

The guests then repaired to the dining room where a sumptuous three-course dinner was served. Those who were here to attend the wedding from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. McNamee and Mrs. Ade McNamee of Chicago, Mrs. Frank McNamee of Chippewa Falls, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Decker, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Decker, Mr. and Mrs. George Louis of Beloit, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Miller of Clinton, and Mrs. Floyd Smith of Sioux City, Iowa.

The REO Is "All There"

Whatever test you apply to the Reo you'll find it "all there." It has all the qualities you want in a motor car.

HILL CLIMBING—You want a car that will take grades without much let-up of speed, and the best test of that is mountain climbing.

The Reo (the same car, by the way, that went from New York to San Francisco in 10½ days) climbed to the top of Mt. Hamilton in California—a distance of 24½ miles in 65 minutes, beating the former world's record by 10 minutes.

RACING—You may not want to go over sandy roads at 52 miles an hour; but you do want a car with the power and ability that this speed implies.

On October 15, 1910, the Reo raced over a very sandy 50-mile road with a higher priced car well known for its racing record and beat it by more than 10 miles. Reo time, 57 minutes 45 seconds.

ENDURANCE AND RELIABILITY—You don't want to turn your pleasure jaunts into tests of endurance; but you want proof that your car will stand more strain than you will ever put it to.

In the New York to Atlanta run of 1910, the Reo finished in perfect condition and challenged every other car, regardless of price, to a technical examination. There were no "takers."

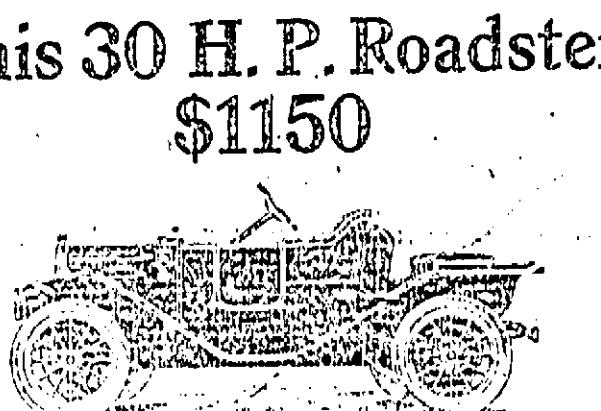

In August, 1910, the Reo went from New York to San Francisco in 10½ days, 15 hours and 30 minutes, without a wrench being touched to its engine.

COMFORT—Apply that test yourself. Let us take you out for a spin in a Reo over any kind of road you may choose around here.

THE Americans by reputation are pretty shrewd buyers. By instinct they look at everything from a commercial standpoint. In their minds run facts and figures. Not fads and fancies. When they make an important purchase, their judgment makes the choice; not some whim or pretty picture.

It is for just this reason that more Overlands are bought than any other car of their type on the market.

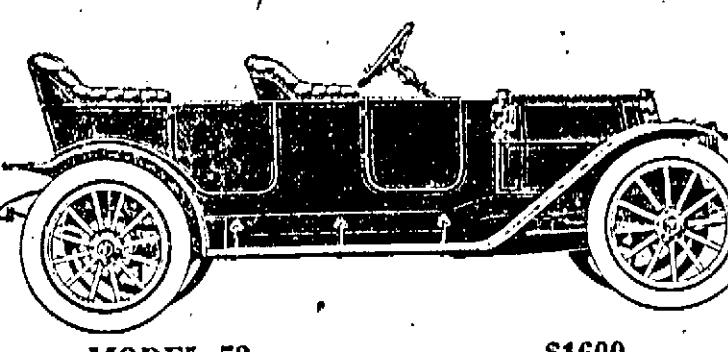

It does not take a very advanced commercial mind to figure out why the Overland is the best car for the price in the world. To start with, everyone knows that it must cost less per car to build cars in 20,000 lots than in 5,000 lots. That applies to the manufacture of anything. One maker manufactures 5,000 cars a year. His competitor makes 20,000 during the same period. It is admitted that the factory cost of an automobile includes at least as much for non-productive labor as for productive. By non-productive is meant the fore men, superintendents, bookkeepers, clerks, general office force, and others necessary to superintend the productive labor, that of the workmen who actually make the goods.

Assuming that the non-productive and overhead charges in a factory amount to $1,000,000 per year, and the product of that factory is 5,000 cars, it will be seen that the cost per car for these two items alone will be $200, but if that factory makes 20,000 cars, the cost per car is only $50.

Everyone knows it costs more per ton to buy coal in single tons than by thousands of tons. That same principle applies to all merchandise, whether it be for steel, leather, wheels, hair for upholstery, tires, springs, etc. Therefore the manufacturer making 20,000 cars can naturally sell his product for less than he who only makes 5,000 cars, because he buys to better advantage.

Any factory that can manufacture 20,000 cars MUST be splendidly equipped with automatic and all other labor-saving and money-saving devices, which are too costly to be practical in the plant making but 5,000 cars. All parts MUST be exact, or the enormous output is impossible.

Still another feature, and that is the indebtedness, bonded and otherwise, of the various manufacturers. The

Everyman's Car $450 The Brush Runabout

The BRUSH Knows No Class, Recognizes No Competition! It Is The ONLY Logical Successor To The Horse And Buggy

When we designed and built the first Brush, we were not aiming to make something that would sell because it was different and low in price; we were not faddists in any sense of the word; we were simply business men trying to solve the problem which we knew would present itself.

We foresaw the demand for a car that would replace the "horse and buggy" just as the big touring car and limousine have replaced the team, the carriage and the coachman.

When the first Brush car appeared many of the wise-crews shook their heads. But regardless of what they said or did, we went ahead. Gradually people began to realize what a wonderful little car we had developed and today the demand for Brush cars is enormous, as we knew it would be—and not a demand from any one particular class, but from sane, thinking people in all parts of the world.

A WORD ABOUT THE PRICE

Don't get the idea that you are getting more automobile if you pay even $200 or $300 more for a big car cut down in size to sell at a comparatively low price. You will get more parts, it's true—also more troubles and expense.

Please remember that the Brush is the only car that is different from all others and still a proven success.

That's why you must not judge it by its price in comparison with other automobiles, but rather by what it has done and is doing every day for more than 4000 users; judge it by the showing it has made in reliability and endurance contests; judge it by the practical, sensible features of its construction, and by its looks. Let us give you a ride.

Every

Is Standardized To
1-1000th of An Inch
"Thirty"

This is significant because standardization means painstaking care—means devotion to seemingly trivial things—means measurements beyond optical perception.

Any motor car which does not incorporate to a greater or less degree the precise qualities which has enabled Cadillacs to win trophies, even in Europe, is not, in the last analysis, a good value for the money it costs you.

The qualities which won these trophies insure long life in the car—because they eliminate looseness, ill-fitting parts, wear and friction.

These qualities explain why you so rarely hear of a Cadillac owner who has any trouble with his car.

They explain the really phenomenal records of low cost of upkeep which have been reported in all parts of the country.

And we repeat, these accomplishments all hark back to the high standard of qualities in the Cadillac.

There is valid reason why you should bear in mind, this standardization, when you come to buy a motor car.

Standardization—interchangeability of parts—and the perfect alignment of all these parts should be the first law of motor car construction.

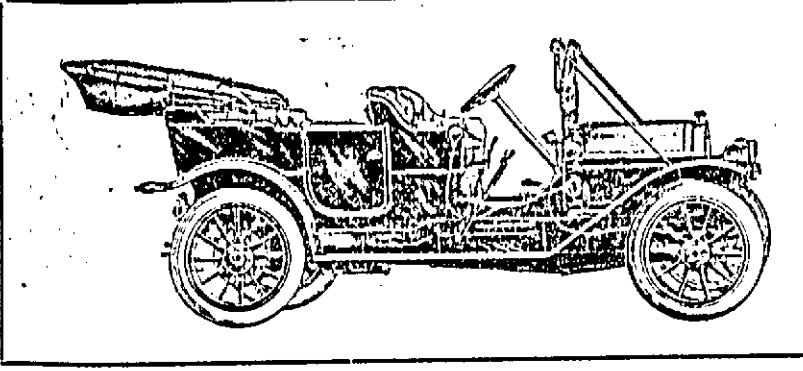

It is indisputably the law which regulates the quality and duration of the service which you get from any motor car. It explains the Cadillac success. It explains why you should own a Cadillac.

THE WAY TO STOP EPIDEMIC

Is To Fortify Yourself and Family Through the Science of Chiropractic

RAYMOND PUDDICOMBE

J. N. PUDDICOMBE

If everybody had taken Chiropractic adjustments and kept their spines in perfect condition; so that Nature could ward off disease, there would be no epidemic of any disease.

What a useless waste of vitality has been and is right now being sapped from your children and perhaps yourself through the widespread epidemic of MEASLES, WHOOPING COUGH, PNEUMONIA, etc. There is no need to modify or qualify the statement. To needlessly permit the racking strain of disease to reak its toll on the dear ones is little short of criminal.

Will You Stop It? Will You Guard Against Its Encroachment?

Chiropractic adjustments will allow Nature to stand guard against all ailments. They allow no loop hole by which disease can creep in and take hold.

Chiropractic adjustments have nothing to do with DRUGS, SURGERY, OSTEOPATHY, or ANY OTHER MODE OR PRACTICE OF HEALING.

IT IS THE ONLY SCIENCE, PHILOSOPHY AND ART THAT HAS THOROUGHLY TESTED AND PROVEN THAT DISEASE IS CAUSED BY PRESSURE ON NERVES AT THE OPENING WHERE THEY EMERGE BETWEEN THE VERTEBRAE (SPINAL BONES). This condition or subluxation interferes with normal transmission of the life currents thereby causing disease to the particular organ these nerves supply.

THE BRAIN IS THE CENTER OF ALL POWER AND SENSATION. The Spinal Cord is a continuation of the brain. Thirty-one pairs of spinal nerves are a continuation of the spinal cord and are transmitted through the intervertebral foramina on either side of the spinal column.

Any human body which will accept disease has a spinal subluxation and until this is adjusted Chiropractically is not immune from disease.

We locate the point of nerve pressure readily, set the interrupted currents in motion again and back comes health. WE DO NOT TREAT EFFECT. WE DO REMOVE THE CAUSE AND NATURE STEPS IN TO CURE THE DISEASE. If your telephone failed to work, the telephone company would trace the trouble back to the cause and remove it.

POURING MEDICINE DOWN THROUGH THE STOMACH WILL NOT ADJUST THE SPINE—IT WILL POISON THE SYSTEM.

The Chiropractor removes the cause not of any particular disease, but all diseases both acute and chronic, and if during the acute stage the cause was removed by spinal adjustments there would be no chronic disease.

Chiropractic is the Bulwark of Health

Lordoscoliosis

You will notice arrow No. 1 has its point to the 7th Cervical and first and second Dorsal Vertebrae. You will find that they are one touching the other. This is what is called a Subluxation and these particular Subluxations will cause any disease pertaining to the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Heart.

Arrow No. 2 points to the 6th, 7th and 8th Dorsal Vertebrae which you will note, drop down one upon the other as those referred to above. This Subluxation throws pressure on the nerves to the Stomach and, of course, with these conditions you are sure to have Stomach Trouble.

Arrow No. 3 indicates the 9th, 10th and 11th Dorsal Vertebrae which you will note, drop down one upon the other so that the Spleen and Kidney nerves are cut off from the normal supply of mental impulses which are life.

Arrow No. 4 shows the 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th Lumbar Vertebrae subluxated in the same manner. This condition is the cause of any disease pertaining to the lower part of the body, such as Appendicitis, and Sciatic Rheumatism.

That spinal column No. 1, shown in the above illustration, is shorter than No. 2, is very apparent. It illustrates an abnormal condition of the spine often encountered by the Chiropractors in their extensive practice of adjusting subluxated vertebrae.

Through an injury the vertebrae in spine No. 1 became subluxated and caused a pinch, an excessive pressure upon the nerves of one side of the vertebrae which ultimately resulted in the soft, cartilaginous cushion between the vertebrae, losing their natural form—they became wedge-shaped, thinner at one edge than the other, as is shown in the chart.

But the most serious results from the tilting of the vertebrae follows from the pinching of the nerves that pass through, and are protected by, the long processes on both sides of the vertebrae. The slightest subluxation of a vertebra throws the process against a nerve and, instead of protecting it from injury it becomes a source of pain, disease and disorders that will last just as long as the cause exists.

In spinal column No. 2 note the openings between each vertebra. Here they are parallel, normal, right. The thickness of the cartilage is the same in every direction; the vertebrae are held in their correct position and the nerves pass through them to the various organs of the body without impediment, without pressure or interference. No. 2 depicts the healthy, normal, natural spine. If your spine is as shown in No. 2 you will have no trouble with your stomach, no liver or kidney trouble, no appendicitis, no lame back. You will not have sciatica, no inflammatory rheumatism. You will never be troubled with headache, you will not be threatened with paralysis or apoplexy. You will not feel old and stiff. Operations will be few and far between—your health will be perfect; you will die of a good old age.

You should keep your spine as shown in No. 2 and the only way to do this is to go to a man who knows how to properly locate and adjust a subluxated spine. Only skilled Chiropractors can properly locate your trouble, for the pressure on the nerve may be at one spot and the manifestation of the abnormal condition—the disease—for removed from that point.

Pain is the manifestation of approaching disease and by a scientific Chiropractic Adjustment pain will leave the body at once and then disease can not develop.

No. 4 is the same spine as No. 2 but is shorter and where there are subluxations. The end of the spine, the children. The spine is too straight and is frequently caused by thickening and shape and tilt of the cartilage between the vertebrae. And further, it must be apparent, to the intelligent reader that no amount of medicine is going to correct this vertebra.

In spine No. 5 spinal curvature is depicted. This is resulting from injury to them or from a cold settling in the curvature, but if taken in the early stages before the cartilages get fixed in this distorted shape, then the disease responds readily to the Chiropractors.

Many doctors advise casts and braces for this disorder, but such aided tortures are worse than useless. No appliances will straighten spinal curvature—the cause of the trouble must be removed and the Chiropractors are the only ones that understand how to give a Chiropractic Adjustment, thus removing the pressure from the nerve which is the cause of your trouble. The Chiropractors have proven their ability to remove that cause in all cases. Parents should have the backs of their children examined, whatever complaints are made to them from the little ones for a few adjustments taken in time will save years of suffering and a long course of adjustments when the trouble becomes chronic.

If you have the slightest pain or discomfort, the least out-of-sorts feeling with yourself, its origin is a subluxation of the vertebrae (spinal column). The natural and first thing to do is to visit the Chiropractors, who are the only ones that know absolutely what causes the ill feeling and the only ones who can adjust the subluxation of the vertebrae (spinal bones) and thus allow nature to restore you to perfect health.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

A NOTHER, today. Yes, honest and truly, another letter has come to this last mail making me to write an article saying that it is bad form for a girl to chew gum in public.

This one makes—well, I wouldn't really dare say how many, I'd be afraid you wouldn't believe me.

Truly, I can't understand it.

Write an article saying that it is bad form for a girl to chew gum in public! Why, that seems to me about like being asked to write an article saying that it is often hot in July, or that a pint of whiskey might be bad for the stomach, or that it is not kind for a man to murder his mother.

Can there really be a girl in this land who does not know that to chew gum in public is bad form?

Take a girl who hasn't had any home training at all, and if she has ever seen another girl deform her face by chewing gum—and if she induces herself she probably has, for they usually seem to do it in droves—surely that sight is enough to teach her that chewing gum is not a pleasant habit.

Perhaps my correspondents are right and this is a matter that needs to be brought before our young girls, but I cannot help feeling that it's simply a case of "know the right and yet the wrong pursue."

One woman writes: "I once heard a man say, 'I was more than taken with Miss E., but I caught her several times chewing gum with her friends, and that was too much for me.'"

That's the ordinary inaudible attitude toward the habit.

Of course every girl who chews gum knows that.

She must know, too, that no matter how pretty she is, the minute she begins to chew gum she ceases to be good to look at.

She must know that her attempts to solve the perpetual motion problem make anyone who has to look at her desperately nervous.

She must know that nice girls, refined girls, the girls she admires, never chew gum.

She probably knows that the habit is unhealthy. That fact has been stated often enough.

The only explanation of her conduct, then, is that the enjoyment she gets out of working her jaws over that bit of rubber, or whatever they make it of, outweighs all those considerations.

And if that is so, how could a newspaper article possibly turn the balance the other way?

I'm sorry, you folks who have written to me, but surely you see how helpless I am.

ANSWER TO QUESTIONS

T. L. B. Building up the tissues of the face requires the daily use of a nourishing cream which the skin will readily absorb. Creams which contain a large amount of paraffin and spermaceti will not remove wrinkles and you will not find satisfactory results from the one you are now using. I will gladly tell you of some which will do the job and mail them to you if you will send the necessary envelope for a personal reply.

C. During the very warm days the morning bath is best taken in tepid or cool water. Extremes of either heat or cold in the bath are apt to make one warmer afterwards, and vigorous rubbing with rough towels should be avoided. If you will spray a little toilet water over the body immediately after drying with soft towels, it will refresh you wonderfully, and you will be quite ready to meet the annoyances which may arise without becoming disturbed.

It is better to use a cooling lotion for bathing the face during the day than to use water, especially if the water is hard. When the skin is inclined to be oily and easily irritated, a lotion composed of six ounces of rosewater, one ounce of witch hazel, a level teaspoonful of boracic acid and a half ounce of alcohol will prove agreeable. For a dry skin use the same proportion of rosewater and witch hazel, adding a half ounce of glycerin and leaving out the boracic powder and alcohol.

A vegetable lotion which is easy to prepare calls for two tablespoonsfuls of oatmeal in one quart of water, boiled for fifteen minutes and allowed to cool; strain through cheesecloth, then add the juice of one medium-sized lemon and a tablespoonful of pure alcohol. Bathe the face with this and when it is perfectly clean, pat gently till dry.

A so-called "flower lotion" is made from four drams of glycerin, two drams of lavender water, three drams rosewater and enough elderflower water to make six ounces. In cases of sunburn, cover the skin with a pure cold cream and dust it thickly with talcum powder. This will take out the fire and prevent blistering. Never use water on the skin when there is the least suspicion of sunburn, as it only serves to aggravate the trouble.

These hints will be found helpful, but the most important of all are the first ones given, namely to keep mentally cool and well poised and to avoid fretting and fussing. In this way hot weather will be devoid of the many discomforts which make one feel as if life is scarcely worth living from June to October.

RIVER OFFERS REAL SUMMER ENJOYMENT

ITS BEAUTIES AND WINDING COURSE APPRECIATED BY MANY WHO KNOW ITS CHANNELS AND SHORES.

MANY LAUNCHES HERE

Cottages Along the Banks Give Outing Places for Many—Little Colony Who Enjoy Nature's Wonderland.

Under most favorable weather conditions the 1911 motorboat season was ushered in and some forty-eight powerboats are now plying the waters of Rock river at Janesville, to the enjoyment of their owners and many friends.

All sorts and sizes of watercraft are included in the flotilla of the Bower City enthusiasts, from 16-footers to the 40-ft. steamer "Augusta," with power ranging from 150 to 30 h. p.

Many of these launches were built by local enthusiasts who desire to follow their own particular ideas as to style of boat and appointments, the 28-footer built for Robert Hockett being a fair example of local handcraft. Besides these there are between fifteen and twenty canoes, of almost every known make, which glide along seeking the "silent places," having practically displaced, for recreation purposes, the old-time rowboat that was "good enough" some ten years ago.

But the enduring, can't-get-away-from feature of Rock river, at Janesville, is its natural scenic beauty, and for twelve miles, to the "Narrows," three miles south of Indian Ford, the numerous fresh water springs, beautiful shore line and abundant foliage give ample evidence that nature has bestowed with lavish hand to those of us who would appreciate its many advantages.

That the river is becoming more popular is evidenced by the increasing number of boats, and also the fact that twenty cottages are now located at various points along this charming stretch of water, where several years ago a summer home was quite a luxury.

People of moderate means, who own launches and enjoy camp life, are now spending the summer months upriver. It is only a short run to the city and business men find it convenient to come down in the morning and journey home in the early part of the evening without interfering with business interests in the slightest degree. Most of these homes are located at or near cool springs where fresh water is always obtainable and which also serve as refrigerators in keeping their eatables fresh.

Especially prominent are the many camping places with alluring springs, shade trees and baseball fields where the city folk may find recreation to the utmost desire. Magee's park, eight miles up the river, is probably the most popular of these resorts, and almost any Sunday one may see happy throngs of picnickers at this point. Week-day summer parties are also very common at Magee's and it would be hard to find a more desirable camping place.

After all has been said, the fact remains that from the time when A. C. Kent, in July, 1893, piloted the first boat up Rock river at Janesville—driven by a motor of the naphtha type, for internal combustion engine were at that time unknown—followed soon after by a similar craft owned by Geo. M. McKey, enthusiasm has steadily increased, and the river is more popular today than at any time in the history of Janesville.

Extensive improvements have been made to the Hostekew cottage, two large porches having been added to the already commodious quarters of this summer home. With the addition of these verandas, guests to a considerable number may be accommodated.

Clarence Sutherland has installed a 6 h. p. double-cylinder Gray motor in his 18-ft. Wauferman "Special." A speed of about 13 miles per hour is attained with the new equipment.

One of the new cottages this season is that owned by Robert Bear, located just north and opposite the "Three Mile" creek. The porch, now being built, will face the west and south side of the structure.

Some few days since, while Jack Fletcher was piloting his boat through the bend of the river at "Swallow Hole," the craft ran amuck on some immovable object, evidently a stump, clipping the blades of the propeller. This is an uncommon occurrence at this point, providing one does not follow the channel and bear well to the left going upstream, and vice versa coming down.

Jack Miller has purchased the 18-ft. racing runabout formerly owned by F. C. Burpee.

Messrs. Allen and George have installed a carbide lighting system at their cottage.

"Old Troubles" has been painted and overhauled and is now plying up and down the "course" as in the days of yore.

A sunken log or piece of timber, evidently placed there by some ambitious fisherman to serve as an anchor for a setline, has been the object of some little inconvenience to launch-owners. This "float" is located at a point opposite the chautauqua grounds, and in order to avoid it one should keep in the middle of the channel.

Built by its owners, Moeser, Graves, Speer and Badger, a new speed boat 25 feet long and powered with a 30 h. p. cylinder, bicycle motor has made its appearance on the river. This boat has splendid lines and should give a good account of itself.

The Goodfellow club of the Gatzto hold their first annual outing at Crystal Springs last Sunday.

ROCK COUNTY MAN IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

William Lee of Evansville, Victim of Heart Failure.—Free Will Baptist Convention and Other Notes.

[EDITORIAL TO THE DIRECTOR.]

Evansville, June 16.—William Lee, one of Evansville's most highly respected business men died at his home on Garfield avenue at four thirty o'clock this morning. Mr. Lee was taken sick about a year ago with heart trouble and had several serious sick spells during that period which has confined him to his home a greater share of the time. Of late he had been much better and for several weeks had been able to sit at his place of business. On Wednesday evening he suffered a relapse and the end came peacefully this morning.

The deceased was the son of Mr. William and Mary Lee and was born in Milwaukee September 8, 1859. When about six years of age he went with his parents to Wisconsin and from there the family moved to Edgerton. There he received his education. He later moved onto a farm at Stellville. On March 17, 1889, he was married to Miss Letitia Harbin of Evansville. They remained here one year when they removed to Stellville, and after residing there fifteen years went to Cooksville, where for eleven years he conducted a meat market. He then moved to Evansville and engaged in the same business, and like pleasant manners and square methods of dealing drew to him host of friends. His passing has caused a most profound regret among all classes of citizens.

He is survived by his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Lee Dorth and one son, Elsworth, both of this city, a brother, George Lee and a sister, Mrs. Anna Wilson of Milwaukee. Mr. Lee was a member of the Braves, the Knights of Pythias and the Elks. The K. P.'s will have charge of the funeral which will be held Monday afternoon at two o'clock in the home and half past two at the Methodist church. Rev. Claus Coop will officiate.

Fres-Wil Baptists.

Evansville will be the scene of a gathering of about a hundred clergymen and religious workers, who will assemble here to attend the sixtieth annual session of the Wisconsin yearly meeting of the Free Will Baptists from June 21 to 25. Miss Nora Weaver, Mrs. David Patchen, the Misses Valeria Erdahl, Mille Hall, Alice Mihlbrandt and Lizzie Miles have been appointed as a committee to arrange for the entertainment of the visitors and Lyle Hatfield, Mrs. Ruth Myers, Russell Weary, Claus Carlson and David Patchen will constitute the committee who will conduct the delegates. The ladies of the church will serve dinner and supper in the dining room of the First Baptist church so that people entertaining delegates will provide only room and breakfast, thus giving everyone an opportunity to attend the meetings. The program for the entire session will be as follows:

BRITZ of HEADQUARTERS

BY MARCIN BARBER
ILLUSTRATIONS BY R. W. MARSTON

He stopped under the low-hanging bough of a great oak tree to get a better light. As he was about to strike a match, his use of that particular cigar suddenly ceased, for, gripping, clinging, strangling, some-thing soft and silky was drawn tightly about his neck, his elbows were jammed against his sides, his knees were squeezed together so closely he could not take a step, and in another minute he found himself bound, gagged, helpless, with three men sitting on him, howling rapidly in a cab along the park drive in a direction which, owing to the swirling excitement of the last sixty seconds, he could not ascertain. All he knew was that he was a captive; that he had been seized in a way unusual to city highwaymen, and that for the present a struggle for release would be simply a useless—perhaps worse than useless—expenditure of his strength.

CHAPTER XI.

A Wild Ride.

Once he realized the futility of resistance, Britz hustled himself with efforts to get a line on his direction. He was in an ordinary brougham, drawn by a pair of high-stepping horses. He was lying on the floor, but on a pile of rugs. The silk scarf with which he had been fastened had been loosened from his neck, only to be drawn tightly about his mouth. A smaller strip of silk, rolled into a ball, had been thrust between his teeth, gagging him beyond his power to utter a cry. His wrists and ankles were bound with similar scarves. He was as helpless as in the electric chair. His life, it might be, depended on his self-control and resourcefulness.

In the faint light that flashed from time to time through the windows of the brougham as it whirled past park lamps, Britz saw that all three of his captors were dark of feature and lithe of form. One moment he was convinced there was something foreign in the appearance of the men. The next, he was less certain they were not American. A hawklike sharpness of profile, however, inclined him more strongly to the former belief. He had seen recently, he thought, a face that in such a light would resemble those bending above him. As he was striv- ing to recall it, and the circumstance surrounding it, a fourth scarf was passed about his eyes and knotted behind his head. The silken strip was light in texture, but folded so many times that he could not see the dim- mestic glimmer of light.

Britz focused his forces on the task of ascertaining his whereabouts and direction. One, two, three blocks the brougham sped westward. Britz knew he was headed for the Hudson. Had not his blindfolding convinced him his life was not in peril, he might have thought his captors were hurrying him to the river to make an end of him. He continued counting the blocks until, wheeling sharply to the right, the horses headed north, and a change in the sound of their hoofs betrayed that they had left the asphalt and were on the macadam again.

"The Drive!" Britz told himself with a slight glow of satisfaction. The distance traveled from the park, the change of direction, and the altered pounding of the high-steppers' hoofs could mean but one thing; the vehicle was howling along the beautiful Riv- erdale concourse. New Yorkers have come to appreciate only in recent years.

It was at that point Britz made his first mistake of the trip. The latch of the left door was jarred loose by an uneven crossing, and the detective felt the door give slightly against his shoulder. He sensed in an eyelash the door had not swung open. Probably an end of the rug had caught under it sufficiently to hold it shut.

But it undoubtedly was unfastened, and that evidently without the knowledge of his captors. Had any of the three noticed the unlatching of the door, he would have drawn it close immediately. There was momentary danger of that. There was not a moment to spare. Britz had little time time. In part, that accounted for the failure of almost every defendant in any of his cases to establish an alibi.

Lean hands stretched forth from the dark interior and caught him about the middle. Other hands seized his legs, while the pair clutching his ankles tightened their grasp, but he only twined his fingers more firmly around their slight circumference. By now the carriage was rolling and pitching like a seagoing tug. Had he not been held so stoutly by the eleven hands above, and his own iron clutch below, the motion might have swung his head against the step again with force to crack it in a dozen places. The very fury of the battle made for his safety.

Britz reckoned on the likelihood that his fall from the carriage would be seen by a patrolman—at any rate, that his attempt at escape would cause a commotion sure to result in police interference. He did not expect to get away unaided; he was bound too securely for that. It was more than possible bad bones, if not broken bones, would be among the consequences. He was willing to take that chance rather than to hazard indefinite captivity with the great "Mystic" diamond mystery unsolved. In the very moment of hurling himself against the door, nothing was stronger in his mind than a yearning to see the Swatans. He felt he positively must chat with that mysterious personage about diamonds and steel safes, and other things. Until he made the Oriental's acquaintance, his social development would be stunted.

The detective omitted from his reckoning the astuteness and readiness of his captors. He thought the surprise striking on his desperate attempt at escape would be of sufficient duration to let him roll to the road. He was shocked mentally as well as physically, therefore, when his fall was stopped by an ordinary policeman in one of the by-streets. Britz chewed the gag savagely in the hope of freeing his voice. Flinging the bandage too tight to force it out of his mouth, he tried to swallow the silken ball inside his teeth. Gulp as he might, his reversed position dislocated him so he could not get the ball behind his tongue. And, owing to the elusive texture of the gag, not all the biting and grinding of his strong teeth could shred it.

As abrupt as his beginning was the end of the struggle, Britz, his eyes still boring into the inner muck, saw one of the long, lean hands slip forth again. This time the hand clutched something between thumb and forefinger. The arm extended until the hand was close to the detective's wrist. Suddenly the sleuth felt a frightful burning pain in the back of his hand. The agony was duplicated in the knuckles of the other. Britz thought he did with all his grit and strength to retain his grip, his fingers opened against his will, the tendons contracted by the biting agony, and Britz knew a powerful hold had been sprinkled on his hands. He could not close them again in the first moment of his torment, and before his muscles could recover from the shock, the way of the brougham swung him clear of the rods. Then, by the united strength of the three inside, he was jerked upward, and dragged with a single tug into the carriage. The door was slammed, and the coachman brought his horses back to their high-stepping trot. Suddenly they slowed to a walk.

"What's wrong here?" asked a voice at the window.

"Hello, Rafferty," said the driver with the easy familiarity of a nighthawk toward the rank and file of the force. "Just a bunch of drunks I'm taking to their little white coats," he added in an undertone.

A patrolman pressed his face against the pane and looked inside. Already, the three dark, slender men who had kidnapped the detective were lolloping and nodding in a way suggestive of ease but satisfied intoxication. Britz, trussed more securely than ever, was under their feet, well out of the police's range.

"They're sure a fine lot of rum-miles!" exclaimed the bluecoat to his friend, the coachman. "The sooner they hit the bay the better. On your way!" And, the driver flicking his horses in a leisurely way, the brougham resumed its journey with Detective-Lieutenant Britz raging in enforced silence among the silk rugs on its floor.

It was just then that Britz made his second mistake. He breathed too deeply. True, he was blown badly by the desperate struggle as he hung headlong from the vehicle and his lungs had almost stopped working when he was jerked so violently back into the carriage. The air near the fire was cool and refreshing. No ordinary man would have hesitated to renew his strength by drawing it as far down into his lungs as the cramped position would permit; but Britz himself, in cooler moments, would have observed surely that air itself was not always an uninjurious blessing. He would have told inquiring minds that, under suspicious circumstances, it should be taken with caution and, if possible, should be well shaken before taken. In this instance, the air Britz breathed was mixed with a subtile something that gradually stole his senses and left him, though healthily alive, an inert heap under the feet of his captors.

So potent, so gentle was the action of that strange something that the stoppage of the carriage, the lifting from its floor of the inanimate detective, the carrying of his limp form up darkened stairs in dead silence to a room at the remote end of a suite at the top of the building, and that which happened to the headquarters man as, sodden with the subtle asperite, he remained at the mercy of the strangers three, were things Britz, for many a long day could only guess. He groped with his conjecture through those weary days of uncertainty that whenever he recalled the experience, it was with a certain giddying movement of the jaws that boded ill for the three dark, slim men if ever he should be able to enfold them in the meshes of the law as they had wrapped him in their scarves.

No, Britz was not vindictive, but he was—human.

YOUR NEIGHBOR'S EXPERIENCE

How you may profit by it. Take Foley Kidney Pills. Mrs. E. G. White, 360 Willow St., Akron, O., says: "For some time I had a very serious case of kidney trouble and I suffered with headaches and dizzy headaches. I had spells floating before my eyes and I felt all tired out and miserable. I saw Foley Kidney Pill advertised and got a bottle and took them according to directions and results showed almost at once. The pain and dizzy headache left me, my eye-sight became clear and today I can say I am a well woman, thanks to Foley Kidney Pills." Badger Drug Co.

Not Salts, Oil or Pills But 'Cascarets'

No odds how sick your Stomach; how hard your head aches or how bilious—Cascarets make you feel great.

Cascarets act as a bowel tonic, not as an irritant. They are vegetable. Their action is natural. Their effect is the same as the effect of some foods. They are gentle; no griping. They are pleasant; no dreading. They are convenient; no waiting.

One old way was castor oil. The effect was to grease the bowel, and for a single day. Oil never caused the bowel muscles to act. Other ways were pills, salts and cathartics. The effect was the same as pepper in the nostrils. They flooded the bowel with fluid. Those fluids were digestive juices. And the waste today means a lack tomorrow.

We know that the method was wrong. That the after-effects only weakened the bowels. But we had no gentle laxative in the old days. So we waited as long as we could, then took a big dose of physic. The method today is to take one Cascaret at a time—just as much as you need it. Then the bowels are always clean. They cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store.

RUPTURE

Its Cured Without the Knife and Without Pain. Doing Away With Your Troubles Forever.

Rupture or Hernia or Breech as it is sometimes called may show itself at different places in the body, thus it may occur at the navel, at the femoral ring, the bowel descending down the inner side of the thigh, or the most common through the inguinal canal on either side of the pubic bone in the groin.

Rupture may be caused by a great many different causes, such as over lifting, straining at stool, severe coughing, blown on the abdomen, or from severe crying in infancy.

Rupture is an indolent disease—that is it gradually grows worse from day to day and from month to month, without attracting the particular attention of the victim, until it has reached a severe condition. And the sufferer who makes no attempt to check its growth awakes finally to the fact that he or she is in a serious condition.

Remember all big ruptures were little ruptures once, hence the importance of attending to them matters at their beginning.

Eight out of every ten ruptures can be cured without operation or the use of the knife. Two out of every ten can be cured only by a surgical operation.

The method which I have used so successfully for the past ten years in curing rupture is accomplished by the injection of a few drops of a healing and curative fluid into the tissues. This simple and painless procedure causes a growth of natural tissue which seals up the rupture opening and replaces the tear in the muscle by your natural tissue. In fact, after you have taken your treatments and are cured you will be stronger and more solid than you are on the other side where you have no rupture and a recurrence of your rupture on the treated side is absolutely impossible.

In the last few years certain physicians have been experimenting with hot paraffin or wax as an injection but this method up to the present time has not been a success, first because the body rebels at the introduction of a foreign substance into the tissues and secondly because the wax is liable to break up on becoming hard and leave the patient in worse shape than ever. And I want to warn you right here, beware of the Doctor who promises to cure you in one treatment, for he will use the paraffin method. If this way of curing rupture had proved a success I should be using it today, but such is not the case.

The method I use has been exclusively used by Dr. E. D. Potter, of New York, the leading specialist of this country in the cure of rupture for the past twenty years and he as well as myself have scores of letters from people whom we have cured to prove our claims. And I have several among my collection from people right here in Janesville.

These treatments are practically painless and do not interfere with you in the pursuit of your daily occupation. There is no suffering and above all this treatment gives you a perfect lasting cure for all time without your being confined to your bed for a single minute. And it cures you safely.

You may say to yourself: "My rupture does not bother me, I have a trust that holds it in place, why should I bother to have it treated?"

The first and best reason why you should not allow such a condition to exist is that you never can tell when through a slip or a fall, or a sudden strain, your rupture is liable to come down and become fat or strangled. When such a thing does happen it means that if this condition is not relieved by operation in 48 hours, moist gangrene, or a rotting of the bowel will take place and you will die.

If you will look through the death lists of any city you will be surprised to see how many people die each year from such causes, and sad to say simply because they have put off having their ruptures cured.

Secondly any man or woman who has a rupture is in reality only half what they should be in strength or vigor. Such a condition not only impairs your life and happiness, but it lessens your earning power, for a ruptured person is kept from doing many things they otherwise could do if well. I do not think I need mention also the annoyance and misery suffered by those who wear trusses. If you are a slave to a truss or other appliance you know what it would mean to be rid of this torture forever.

In regard to cases which I accept for treatment, I want you to distinctly understand that I do not under any circumstances accept incurable cases for treatment. No case do I take for treatment unless I know positively that I can cure it to any degree, for in every case I do accept for treatment I give you a written, legal guarantee to cure or refund every cent you have paid.

After I have examined you I will tell you frankly and truthfully whether you can be cured by this method without operation, about how long it will take for a perfect cure and the cost. If I find that I cannot cure you I will frankly tell you so and advise you where and when you can best be operated.

I operate on a great many that can not be cured otherwise, but as I have said eight out of every ten can be cured without an operation.

If you satisfy yourself that what I state is true and you wish to investigate my claims I will gladly give you the names of many right here in this state, some in Janesville whom you may ask or write and they will tell you just what I have done for them. Can you ask any stronger proof? Many, not all, of my cured cases have given me the privilege to refer to them in this way.

The cost of my treatment depends of course upon the severity of the case. No matter what your age may be, nor how long you have had your rupture, or what you have done in trying to get cured, if it is not too bad a case it can be cured. I have treated and cured children of two years of age and men over eighty years old.

To sum up here are the advantages of being cured by my method:

You do not have to leave home and go to a hospital.

You do not have to take any chloroform or ether.
